50 Years of Earth Day

The modern-day environmental movement kicked off 50 years ago on the first Earth Day, April 22, 1970.

The annual event was created by Gaylord Nelson, a senator from Wisconsin who wanted to organize what he called a "national teach-in on the environment" that would educate the public about growing concerns such as pollution and deforestation. On the first Earth Day, 20 million people, about 10% of the country's population at the time, took part in rallies, raising awareness about environmental issues and appealing to protect the health of the planet.

Earth Day's success contributed to several landmark changes, including many of the first laws against air and water pollution, as well as the creation of a new government organization to respond to such issues, the Environmental Protection Agency, which began work in December 1970. By 1990, Earth Day became a worldwide observance.

Today, about 1 billion people in nearly 200 countries celebrate Earth Day.

Communication From Leisure Care

It goes without saying that we are living in an unprecedented and challenging time. When you opened this newsletter, you were likely expecting to see your monthly activities calendar. Due to COVID-19, we have canceled all activities throughout the community and are instead using this space to provide you helpful information and some ideas and activities while social distancing.

With 50 communities in 17 states, like all of you, we have been closely monitoring the developments that are changing daily and, in some cases, hourly. With that in mind, we are regularly modifying our protocol in alignment with best practices as determined by the CDC and state regulatory bodies, while also seeking alignment with our company values of doing the right thing. With all that is going on, our priorities have not changed; the health of our residents and employees remains our main focus.

For our most recent updates, visit www.leisurecare.com/communication-plan. Please contact your management team if you have any questions about COVID-19.

Keep Active With These Activities

- Carry on a daily routine as much as possible.
- Stay connected with family and friends by telephone, writing them a letter or email, or by using social media.
- Keep physically active as much as you can. Take advantage of the limited walks when possible, move around your apartment, and do simple seated stretches.
- Use this time as an opportunity. Read that book you've been wanting to get to, work on your favorite crafting project or hobby, take on a puzzle (Try the ones here in the newsletter!), start a journal, or learn something new.
- Unleash your inner artist with coloring pages or take up drawing or sketching.
- Organize something you've put off, such as that pile of papers, a drawer or shelf.
- Listen to your favorite music.
- If it's possible, use your TV's streaming service to catch up on some classic movies or one of those popular TV shows everyone's talking about.
- Use your device to research a topic you've always been interested in, learn some phrases in a foreign language, watch a YouTube tutorial or TED talk, or just laugh at some animal videos!
- Above all, maintain a positive attitude. You have likely coped with difficult situations before, and be reassured that you will cope with this current situation as well.

Craft Corner

Soda Bottle Spring Blossoms

It's easy to paint a beautiful cherry tree in bloom—just use a soda bottle as a stamp!

Materials:

- White piece of paper
- Paintbrush
- Dark brown or black acrylic craft paint or marker
- Light pink acrylic craft paint
- Small paper plate
- Empty plastic soda bottle

Directions:

Paint or draw a tree branch on the paper using the dark paint or marker. Let dry.

Pour some pink paint on the paper plate. Dip the bottom of the soda bottle into the paint so that the five bumps on the bottom of the bottle are covered.

Use the bottle to stamp pink cherry blossom flowers along the tree branch. Before stamping each flower, dip the bottle into the pink paint for a fresh coat.

Once dry, hang your artwork for all to see.

Fragrant Flowers

Bring the scent of spring to a room, closet or drawer with this handmade air freshener.

Materials:

- Felt
- Scissors
- Sheet pan
- Parchment paper
- Essential oil (any scent)
- Needle and thread
- String
- Hot glue gun and glue

Directions:

Cut four circles out of the felt, each a bit smaller than the other. Cut evenly spaced slits around the edge of each circle to create petals.

Cover the sheet pan with parchment paper. Arrange the felt circles on the pan in a single layer and sprinkle each circle with a few drops of essential oil. Leave the pan in a sunny spot for an hour to let the scent soak in.

Layer the circles in a stack from largest to smallest. Sew an "X" through the center of the stack. To make a hanger, knot together two ends of a piece of string to create a loop, then glue the knotted end to the back of the flower.

When the scent fades, sprinkle the flower with more essential oil and let dry in a sunny spot.
