Brain Bender: At the Beach

Leo, Sabrina and Vicky went to the beach. Each of them saw a sea creature—starfish, crab and jellyfish—and enjoyed a treat from the concession stand—ice cream, snow cone and hot dog. They also met new friends by joining in an activity—Frisbee, volleyball and flying a kite.

Using the clues, can you figure out how each person spent the day?

- Sabrina did not play volleyball, see a crab, or eat a snow cone.
- The person who flew a kite also saw a jellyfish.
- Leo did not fly a kite, but he did eat a hot dog.
- Vicky either saw a jellyfish or ate ice cream.

Hanging Out in Hammocks

A hammock hanging between two trees is an inviting sight. This swinging bed has provided safety and rest in the centuries since its invention.

Anthropologists say the native people of Central and South America hung the first hammocks about 1,000 years ago, weaving bark and leaves into lightweight nets they called hamacas. While some were used for fishing, others were strung between trees and used as a bed, providing a clean, dry place to sleep, plus protection from animals on the jungle floor.

When Christopher Columbus arrived in the Caribbean in the 1400s, he was fascinated by the sleeping nets and wrote about them in his journal. The explorer took hamacas back to Europe, where they became known as hammocks.

Sailors quickly adopted the suspended beds. Easily rolled up for storage on a crowded ship, hammocks were more hygienic and also helped prevent seasickness by swaying with a vessel's movement. Through the 20th century, hammocks were standard equipment on naval vessels.

In some cultures, hammocks are still the bed of choice. Scientists have discovered that a hammock's gentle rocking helps people doze off faster and get a deeper sleep.

A Little Comic Relief

I made the mistake of telling my husband that an early symptom of Covid-19 is loss of smell. He's taken to passing gas in my vicinity and then when I react, informing me he is helpfully "performing a health check." He taught the children the technique. I may divorce him.
